If you head to The Pool at Harrah's Resort this weekend, you may notice some renovations thanks to a partnership with Belvedere Vodka. The premium vodka company, which offers one of the most popular drinks at The Pool, worked with Harrah's management to recently unveil new features in the 172,000 square-foot glass dome entertainment complex.

Designed by Back Bar USA, one of Last Vegas' top event production and design companies, The Pool now features floating "Go-Go boxes" for dancers, water fixtures, upgraded lightshows, multiple DJ booths, improved sound systems and a Plexiglass stage that is available for musical performances, according to a press release.

Also, five hot tubs in the VIP area have been surrounded by permanent banquette-style seating, plus there's new bedding and drapery in the cabanas.

"The Pool After Dark at Harrah's Resort is one of the most popular after nightlife spots in the nation," says Regional Director of Nightlife Operations, Strategy & Development for Caesars

Entertainment Atlantic City Howard Weiss, in a statement. "This year we have taken it to another level. The Pool After Dark now evokes the spirit of St. Tropez in Atlantic City."

The renovated area is now offering exclusive packages that include: "Indulge & Splurge," $1,500 including two bottles of Belvedere with 12 cans of Red Bull, one bottle of Moët Rose, sparklers, VIP poolside table and five complimentary admission passes; "I'm with the DJ," $2,000 including two bottles of Belvedere with 24 cans of Red Bull, one bottle of Moët Rose, sparklers, VIP DJ premium table and eight complimentary admission passes; "Rock Star," $3,000, including three bottles of Belvedere with 24 cans of Red Bull, three bottles of Moët Rose, sparklers, VIP cabana and 10 complimentary admission passes; and "5 Star Package," $5,000, including five bottles of Belvedere, five bottles of Moët Rose, sparklers, VIP Cabana with a hot tub and 15 complimentary admission passes.

The renovations are expected to be completed for this weekend, when comedian, actor, singer Jamie Foxx will make an appearance on Friday, July 6, for a "Celebrity All White Gala."
